Praise For Self-Publishing Simplified

Nuria Corbi

“If you have taken the leap into the world of self-publishing, you’re about to embark on an incredible journey with this book. It’s written by Corvin Van Stone, the brain behind Self Publishing Titans. Back in 2019 when I was just starting out as an author, it was Corvin’s wealth of resources, many generously shared for free, that shaped my own journey.

This book you’re holding, ‘Self-Publishing Simplified’ is your cheat sheet to publishing on Amazon KDP. And it is my pleasure and honour to write this. Corvin, with his genuine desire to uplift, stands out as one of the most generous spirits in the industry. So dive into this book and take your journey from dream to reality. With Corvin’s guidance, you’re in the capable hands of a true Titan of self-publishing.”

“After knowing Corvin for a number of years now, I truly believe his knowledge and integrity sets him apart from the rest in the publishing space. I’ve taken & recommended his course to my audience as I completely trust his approaches to publishing successful books on Amazon, and jumped at the chance to write this foreword to sing his praises.

I’ve also had the pleasure of many one-on-one conversations with Corvin, and as someone who has been publishing for over 10 years, I still find myself learning new tips and tricks from him that have helped me refine my own approach to self-publishing.

Needless to say, Corvin continues to stretch the envelope with his research tools, software, and knowledge, paving the way for new publishers to massively increase the exposure and quality of their publications.”

“I have been a member of the Self Publishing Titans Facebook group for years, and have always found it to be a welcoming and helpful community.

Over the last year, myself and Corvin have had regular brainstorms about how we can better serve & provide value to our self-publishing audiences.

Corvin’s self-publishing Masterclass is one example of how he provides immeasurable value to his audience, this book is another!”

Foreword

While I was early into my KDP journey, I was seeking a group of like-minded people that would be helpful, share insight and guide each other along. I came across a research tool for niches on KDP, maybe through a video I saw or something and discovered there was a group by the creator. I found the group and I joined. I could tell the creator, Corvin Van Stone, was very helpful and eventually could tell he was also sincere. The sincerity was more clear, given the amount of information, assistance and even tools he was giving away for free. I became a regular contributor and eventually, based on my demonstrated knowledge and helpfulness, was asked to help with the group in an administrator capacity.

Corvin and I became friends along the way, as well as having met in person, spending a day in New York City with his wife, Cleo, who also does a lot of work behind the scenes. They have sold well over 100,000 books and truly are making KDP work. Together, these two have taken their vast experience and created a number of helpful tools, as well as offering a Masterclass course, complete with individual videos on each topic. They are transparent, honest and realistic about everything they present with no false promises.

In this book, you are essentially getting a smaller version of the course, but still a very simple guide, complete with screen shots where needed, to provide you with "A to Z" basic details on how to get started. The book is written in a very personal style, as if Corvin is speaking to you directly in a classroom environment. The book does a masterful job of providing the very basic details of KDP set up, to the key concepts and steps to take to guide you on a successful path in KDP.

I would recommend this book for anyone that would like a direct, but easy to read guide on getting started with KDP, as well as information on how to conduct research, while providing direction on where to get all the rest of the valuable tools and information.

KDP Veteran / Coach

Learn from the best and you can't go wrong.

Amazon is the biggest book store on the planet at this time and understanding the ins and outs of how Amazon KDP works is certainly a topic that many thousands of people have spent an abundance of time trying to understand and decipher.

For me it is very important to listen to people who are successful in this work and Corvin and Cleo have proven they know their stuff from the beginning.

Corvin has proven time and again to be a valuable mentor, teacher and coach in the KDP space with his course and many tools. His sales numbers show he knows what he is speaking about, making his words even more important and valuable to any that wish to succeed in this business.

I have watched Corvin from the first day he appeared on the KDP scene and he has become an invaluable and trusted resource for thousands who have been seeking to succeed at KDP, especially in the Low Content and Mid Content side of Amazon KDP.

I don't think there is anyone else, right now, that has given more to this community. When you consider all the tools that Corvin has created, which are based upon his successful business model, you can feel his deep desire to see others succeed. That is the mark of a true mentor.

I was once the teacher, and now I can say that Corvin is my teacher and mentor, and I watch and apply what he is teaching to my business. To all who read this, I wish you all success, by following the best.
